

A communication system and accounting apparatus are provided capable of easy management of accounting a use of information by a user in multi-media networks

15